Court Adjourns Until Next Monday.

With Judge Robert L. Stout presiding, the June term of the Bourbon Circuit Court convened in this city yesterday morning, but by an agreement between the court and the members of the bar court adjourned until Monday, June 17.

The action, which met with the approval of Judge Stout and the attorneys, was caused directly by the failure of the Court of Appeals to hand down a decision as to the legality of Judge Stout serving as Judge in the new district of Franklin county, created by an act of the last Legislature, and hold court in the old district composed of Bourbon, Scott and Woodford, and also from the fact that the farmers and laborers are busy would make it difficult to secure witnesses for their appearance in court. The petit and grand jurors summoned to appear in court this morning, have been excused from service until next Monday morning.

The docket for the coming term is exceedingly light, only forty-two appearance suits being filed since the March term of court. The docket, which will be taken up next Monday is as follows:

Appearance suits, 42.
Old ordinary cases, 85.
Old equity cases, 297.
Commonwealth cases, 40.

Lower Court Sustained.

The Court of Appeals last week sustained the judgment of the Bourbon Circuit Court of Ritchell vs. L. & N. railway. About a year ago, Miss Rella Ritchell, a Russian Jewess, brought suit against the L. & N. railroad, alleging that she had been compelled by a conductor to ride from Millersburg to Paris in a colored coach. The jury awarded her $3,750. The case has attracted considerable attention as Miss Ritchell is a highly cultivated lady and a teacher of unusual attainments. She was represented by Attorney J. Embury Allen of Lexington, and Talbott & Whitley of Paris.

Lecture Postponed.

Owing to tire trouble between Louisville and Paris, Charlie White-Moon, the noted millionaire cow boy herbalist arrived too late to give his celebrated lecture. Dr. White-Moon travels in his mammoth touring car, and expressed much regret at having disappointed the large crowd. However he will endeavor to return to Paris at some future time to deliver his address. Dr. White-Moon left about 2 o'clock to fill similar engagements.

Aged Negro Dies Suddenly.

Columbus Hawkins, colored, aged about 60 years, died suddenly at nine o'clock Friday night, at his home on Lillieston Avenue. Coroner Rudolph Davis investigated the case and found that death was due to apoplexy.

Business Failures.

According to the mercantile agencies' reports, there were 197 business failures in the United States for the week ending June 6, as compared with 231 for the preceding week; 232 for a like week of last year, and 180 for the similar week in 1910.

Fly Contest Comes to Close.

The fly-killing contest which was inaugurated several weeks ago by the Civic League closed Saturday. The flies have been received in the basement of the public library where they were counted each Saturday. The final count in the contest showed that Edgar Vansant had killed and turned over 300,000 flies and received the first prize of $10 offered by the League. Joe Rassenfoss captured the second prize of $5 with over 100,000 flies, while James Templin secured the third prize of $3. Cornelius James and Hord Allen, colored, tied for the fourth prize. The war against the fly in this community has been waged with much vigor, with the result that the number of the pests have been reduced to a considerable extent.

Flower Mission Day.

Flower Mission Day was observed by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union Sunday. A committee composed of Mrs. J. W. Larkins, Mrs. Sallie Pullen and Mrs. William Myall, visited the county infirmary where religious services were held by Rev. Dr. B. M. Shive, of the Presbyterian church, after which flowers were distributed among the inmates of the infirmary and refreshments served. Others who went to the infirmary were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bryan and little daughter, Mr. William Clark and Mrs. H. C. Ingram, of Paris, Squire Thomason and wife and Mrs. P. L. Dimmitt, of Millersburg.

Alumni Association Meets.

The Alumni Association of the Paris High School held its regular meeting Friday evening in the gymnasium of the Paris City School, with a large number of the alumni present. An elegant banquet was served and the following program rendered: Music—High School Band; Invocation—Rev. J. S. Simms; Toastmaster—Dr. F. Lapsley. Responses to toasts were made as follows: "Auld Lang Syne"—Miss Freida Heller; "The Invincibles"—Mr. M. J. Slicer; "Worst of Winners"—Miss Anna Thornton; "Varpe Diem"—Miss Elsie Heller; "Nothing"—Superintendent Geo. W. Chapman.

Must Have Your Own Drinking Cup.

Wednesday the law passed at the last session of the General Assembly eliminating the drinking cup from hotels, railway trains, passenger stations, restaurants and all public places, becomes operative. City Health Officer Dr. A. H. Keller says that while the Board of Health has taken no action in the matter as yet, the Board will be ready to enforce the law by the time the bill becomes operative or even before.

The State Board of Health has already begun preparations for the enforcement of the law. The health authorities maintain that diseases are communicated by different persons drinking out of the same cup or other drinking vessel. In many places individual drinking cups have been provided for the public at a cost of one cent. Where such provisions is not made it will be necessary for the individual to purchase a drinking cup.

Two or Four Kinds of Women. Someone—probably one of those Frenchmen whose life job it was to make epigrams—once said that there are but two kinds of women: good women and bad women. Ever since then problem playwrights have been putting that fiction into the mouths of wronged husbands and building their "big scene" around it. But don't you believe it. There are four kinds: good women, bad women, good bad women and bad good women. And the worst of these is the last.—American Magazine.

The Real Plunderers.

Mr. Roosevelt has repeatedly denounced "boss rule" during his campaign. He has held up to scorn the Penroses, the Lorimers, and the Coxes and other bosses not for Roosevelt as typifying the evils of the present day politics.

Every one admits that such men as this should be ousted from power. But are these men, after all, really the greatest danger to this Republic?

John D. Rockefeller, who has hoarded up a fortune of $900,000,000 through sharp practice and legislative favoritism, is not a "boss." Andrew Carnegie is not a political boss. J. Pierpont Morgan, who is so anxious to have Roosevelt nominated, was never accused of being a political "boss." George W. Perkins, who organized the illegal harvest trust, and is financing Roosevelt's campaign, according to sworn statements of the Roosevelt campaign committees, is not a "boss."

The millionaire owners of the woolen trust and the sugar trust and the steel trust are not "bosses." The "boss" issue is largely a false issue. The men who are plundering the people directly, and making the common people dissatisfied with the way things are going under this form of government are chiefly the multi-millionaire owners of the tariff trusts, now engaged in financing the Roosevelt campaign in order to return the Colonel to the White House so that he can give instructions to his attorney-general not to start suits against illegal trusts, like the harvest trust, until he gives the word.

Gets Million a Week.

Administration of the government by Republicans is a good thing for John D. Rockefeller. Through the collection of rebates from railroads, a practice that his competitors were not allowed to indulge in, and aided by tariff will which enabled him to build up a monopoly without fear of competition from abroad, he has built up a $900,000,000 fortune. From the oil industry and subsidiary industries, which the high tariff advocates still refer to as "infants," yet in need of protective tariff, Mr. Rockefeller derives an income of approximately $2 a second. The Rockefeller income at the present time, as near as financial experts have been able to estimate it, is $60,000,000 a year, $50,000,000 a month, $1,533,846 a week, $164,735 a day, $6,863 an hour, $114 a minute, or $1.90 a second.

A girl working in a store for $5 a week would have to labor 4,438 years to earn as much as the unequal, unfair and unjust laws of this nation permit Rockefeller to draw down every week.

William Wood, president of the woolen trust, testified in court not long ago that he had no idea as to the number of automobiles he owned. J. P. Morgan, it was recently announced, now has an art collection worth $50,000,000. Andrew Carnegie, it is well known, has lost all track of his wealth.

These are the plunderers of America. In order that they and the horde of lesser millionaires who enjoy their privileges under the law, may pile up such fortunes, every reader of this article must pay a tribute in the form of unnecessarily high prices for life's necessities.

Why Coffee Costs More.

Within three or four years the price of coffee has doubled, along with everything else. Evidence has just come to light showing why the price of coffee has increased.

The remarkable feature of the situation is that, for once, the increase is not due to increased wages, which is the stock excuse the multi-millionaire owners of the individual trusts hand out every time they make up their minds to increase their dividends at the expense of the consumer.

Coffee has increased in price, though production has doubled, because the market supply has been artificially restricted.

Are the Fly and Mosquito Dangerous?

The fly, with spongy feet, collects the invisible germs of diseases, spreads them over our food and poisons us with typhoid and cholera. The mosquito with its bite injects into our veins malaria and yellow fever. The bacteria of consumption, or grip, are everywhere present for us to breathe into our lungs. The blood which flows through our veins and arteries is our protection. It should contain healthy red and white blood corpuscles—capable of warding off these disease germs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and alterative made entirely without alcohol, a pure glyceric extract of bloodroot, golden seal, Oregon grape root, queen's root, mandrake and stone root, which has enjoyed a good reputation for over forty years. The refreshing influence of this extract is like Nature's influence—the blood is bathed in the tonic which gives life to the blood—the vital fires of the body burn brighter and their increased activity consumes the tissue rubbish which has accumulated during the winter.

"About forty years ago while in Newark, New Jersey, I had chills and fever," writes Mr. Michael Maguire, of National Military Home, Kansas. "I went to Kansas City and in the spring of 1877 the chills and fever returned. Doctors and everything I tried failed to do me good. Finally I saw Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery advertised. I took one bottle of it and the chills vanished. In about a year afterward I felt them coming back so I got another bottle and have never had any symptoms of fever or ague since. That is all of twenty years ago, for I had the chills about twelve years before I started to take 'Golden Medical Discovery.'"

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are for liver ills.

STAKED

(Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

"She can't stay here." Jet's eyes flashed ominously. Standing in the low doorway of the little log shack, half way up Sawtooth mountain, she stared out at the shabby yellow carryall, with its team of lean, shaggy horses.

"Then where is she going to stay, I'd like to know?" ejaculated the driver, hoarsely. "She's bound for here, and she's paid her way here, and she's sick, too, and she tells me Jim sent for her. You lend a hand here, like a good fellow, and help me get her out."

"Nobody's home but me." "Then you're boss, ain't you? And what you say goes." He grinned up at her comfortably. Jet's temper was familiar to him. "She's got to rest up some place, and it's thirty miles back to Double Forks."

"Why didn't she come before?" "Ask her," said Wilkins.

Most begrudgingly Jet did the honors of her home to the half-conscious stranger. She helped carry her into the kitchen, and loosened her many wraps. She made strong coffee, and winced a little from her own bitterness when she saw how young and sick she was. It is not the game to fight an enemy who is already down.

After the man from Double Forks had driven away, she went silently about her work, while the other woman lay on the bed and watched her.

Finally Jet spoke. "Well, you got here, didn't you?" "I came as soon as ever I could."

"Yes, you did!" "I did. I started the day after baby came."

Jet turned around. "What baby?" "Why, ours; mine and Jim's."

A pause. Jet looked as if somebody had most swiftly and surely slapped her in her pretty, aggressive face.

"You knew I had a baby, didn't you? I wrote to Jim. He might have told you that much. I guess he didn't care, anyhow."

"No, he didn't tell me." Jet sat down opposite the bed.

"When did you tell him about the other—the baby?" asked Jet slowly.

"Not right away. He wrote back he'd try to send for us both, and to name it after him if it was a boy."

"Maybe he meant to." Jet walked to the open cabin door and leaned her back against the casing. A year and a half she had lived down at Double Forks, running a miners' boarding house. She was thirty, and amply able to look after herself. Her pies and cornbread had followed gold strikes in Nevada for years. And she trod her way heartwhole until Jim Barclay showed up.

"He got hurt last month. They had to take him up to Trent, where the company's doctor is. He works for the Kay-Allen outfit, foreman. Your letter came here while he was gone, so I opened and read it. They said he might die, and I sent you the money to come on quick, to get here and see him. So long as you was his wife, you had a right to be in at the finish."

The other woman was off the bed before the words were fairly out of Jet's mouth, swaying slightly, she caught Jet's willing hand for support.

"But he isn't dead, is he?" "What do you care?" Jet looked at her curiously. "You were married to him about two months, wasn't you? And then he left you. I always liked Jim, and I hoped all along something might happen so we could get married, and swing up further north into some of the provinces and start all fresh again."

"I want you to know everything first." Jet rose slowly, and crossed the floor of the two-room shack. "He's in yonder. They brought him up here because it's his place. He's alive, but he'll never get well again. The company's given him a pension, so he won't starve."

She took a hat from a nail, put it on her head with a yank forward. "Go on in and say hello. I'm going away now. Where's the baby?"

"With my mother—home. It's a boy."

"And named Jim?" she said, carelessly. "There's some money in his room there, in a little buckskin sack under the pillow. It's his, so you can use it. Goodby. I wouldn't tell him I sent after you. Men don't have to know everything, you know."

"Listen, you mother of Jim's baby! I meant to jump your claim. And I couldn't. It was all nicely staked out and guarded. He even told me you made better pies than mine. Your picture's in the inside pocket of that coat, and a long curl of hair around it. Don't you worry. You send for the baby quick and call this home. So long."

She stopped at a sound from the other room, the sound of some one waking, stretching tiredly on a creaky bed, sighing, and cursing softly to himself at pain. Then they heard him call peevishly, longingly: "Anybody out there?"

Jet shrugged her shoulders, and smiled, and walked out of the shack, shutting the door after her softly. She could hear Jim's laugh as she went down after her pony. The staked claim was proved up now.

Paris Drops Four Straight Games

By losing to Richmond yesterday afternoon, Paris suffered the fourth defeat since last Monday. The score yesterday was 7 to 6 in favor of the Pioneers. The game Sunday afternoon with the Nicholasville club, in which they were drubbed in admirable fashion, being let down with three hits, bears out the statement made by the News that the local boys are not hitting up to the standard, and in case where hits come as mere gifts they invariably throw the games away on errors.

The local management makes the statement that an effort is being made to strengthen the club that it may be the equal of any in the league and beg the indulgence of the fans until this can be accomplished. According to the statement good players are scarce articles this season, and it is a difficult matter to add men to the roster who are putting up the article of ball the local fans demand.

There has been a very noticeable increase in the interest manifested by the "bugs" in the past week, even in the face of so many defeats and a continuance of patronage, and a little encouragement, it is hoped to produce a better article of ball, and the result may be another flag for Paris.

While it is admitted the Paris team, even the old men, have not been playing up to the standard, it is attributed to the series of knocks that have been going the rounds. The Paris management as well as others realize that Paris is deserving of better ball and it is their intention to strengthen each department on the club where weakness is very noticeable.

President Bacon, who announced last week that he had signed an Indian pitcher, stated last night that he was making an effort to get in communication with the fellow, and hoped to have him here before many days. An outfielder by the name of Vally, arrived last night. Vally, who was to report on the third of June, has been on the road for several days. He comes from the Ohio State League, but the management has not decided whether he will be retained since he delayed his coming for several days.

The next game on the local grounds will be played Thursday, when Paris will meet the Colts.

Paris proved easy picking for the Lawmakers in the opening game of the series in Frankfort, Friday, the final score being 12 to 2. Hauser essayed to hurl the game for Paris, but after allowing five runs and six hits, he was yanked off the mound, and Harold was sent in to finish the contest. The latter fared but little better, and as the contest wore on, the Lawmakers increased their score. A total of eighteen safe drives was chalked up in favor of the Lawmakers while Cornell, effective at all stages, kept his hits down to seven, one of the number being a home run by Locke. The Lawmakers stole bases frequently and connected with the ball at times when their hits were most needed. Paris scored in the first inning and again in the eighth, the tallies being clean cut, while only eight of those secured by the opposing team were earned. Hauser's ineffectiveness in the first inning seemed to put the entire crew in the air, and the slugfest could not be stopped.

In the second game of the series the Lawmakers had but little trouble in winning, the contest resulting in a score of 7 to 2. The local boys were helpless before Embry, and could not touch their hits in sufficient number to overcome the lead. Blankenship started the game for Paris, but was driven from the mound in the first inning. Hauser was then substituted and the Lawmakers continued to hit in streaks. The Bourbonites put up an errorless game in the field, and played in an admirable fashion, but their weakness with the stick, coupled with the bad innings in the early stages, was responsible for their defeat.

Nicholasville celebrated its first appearance on the Paris grounds under the new management Sunday afternoon by drubbing the Bourbonites in a handy fashion, and scoring a complete shut-out. Compared with the crowds of the past two weeks, there was a good number out to witness the contest, which indicated a revival of the interest in the sport. Burden was on the mound for the visitors and at all stages of the game was practically invincible, allowing the locals but three hits. Two errors in the third inning allowed the Nicholasville team to score two runs and by consecutive hitting in the inning following they annexed another, the score at the close of the contest standing 3 to 0. After the fourth Blankenship pitched a steady game, and the men behind him fielded good, but Burden was so effective that the locals never had a look-in.

Perpetuate Old Meanings. "Ballot" and "suffrage" show how language perpetuates the memory of primitive methods. A "ballot" should be a vote taken with balls—one of the various ancient Greek instruments of secret voting. And the word "suffrage," which by some is derived from "suffrago," a knuckle bone or ankle bone, in that case recalls an early method of recording the vote.

Wouldn't Try It On Himself. "And you didn't know it was loaded?" "No, judge, I swear I didn't." "But before pointing it at the deceased, why did you not look into the barrel to see whether or not it was loaded?" "Why, Judge, that would have been a fool thing to do! It might have exploded and killed me."—Hous-ton Post.

Primrose Day. Primrose day (in England), the anniversary of the death of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, had its origin in the tribute, a modest wreath of primroses, sent by Queen Victoria for the funeral of Beaconsfield. The general impression that the primrose was Beaconsfield's "favorite" flower came from a misunderstanding of the words attached to the queen's tribute: "F. Victoria. His favorite flower." The public thought the queen meant that the primrose was Beaconsfield's favorite flower, when in truth she meant that it was the favorite flower of the prince consort.

Windsor Hotel Closed.

Evan W. Floyd, proprietor of the Windsor Hotel, Sunday, filed a petition in bankruptcy in the Federal Court at Frankfort, and pending the proceedings in the case the doors of the hotel were closed yesterday. The schedule of the bankruptcy could not be ascertained.

Mr. Floyd was made the defendant in a suit filed at the March term of the Bourbon Circuit Court by Judge Denis Dutton for C. J. McLearn, on a mortgage held by the plaintiff upon a large quantity of furnishings in the hotel, to the amount of $4,060.

It was expected to obtain a judgment at the June term of court, which after convening yesterday adjourned until next Monday.

Mr. Floyd came to Paris from Louisville about two years ago. Previous to that time he was in charge of the Louisville Hotel in that city.

As the Season Unfolds.

So then the year is repeating its old story again. We are come once more, thank God, to its most charming chapter. The violets and the may-flowers are as its inscriptions or vignettes. It always makes a pleasant impression on us when we open again at these pages of the book of life.—Goethe.

Advocates Leaves of Soap.

A chemical friend of the Scientific American suggests that a campaign be started against the common cake of soap. About 50 years ago there was sold a form of soap for travelers, consisting of a booklet, about two inches by four inches, in which small leaves of soap paper saturated with soap were bound. Each leaf contained enough soap for one washing of the hands. It is suggested that one might profitably dispense, through a penny-in-the-slot machine, a paper towel in which is folded a sheet of soap paper, for convenient use in public lavatories.

Growth of Checks.

The check has become, by the evolution of events, a document having a clearly defined legal status; its form is protected, like the bank note and the bond, against counterfeiting and alteration, and it is charged with the function of carrying on the world's exchanges with a convenience and safety and to an extent which give it in many respects predominance over coin and bank notes.—Bankers' Magazine.

Gas From Peat.

The production of gas from peat having a low water content (up to about 20 per cent.) for use in suction gas (saugas) engines has already met with success in Germany, but for a number of years efforts have been made to utilize peat with a water content as high as 50 to 60 per cent. and thus eliminate the costly process of drying the raw material.

Nervous Children.

The nervous child has in him the making of the brilliant man, but he is generally spoiled in the making. You must be patient and long-suffering with the boy or girl of nervous temperament, else you will do your child great injury. Never scold or tease. Never hold the little one to ridicule. Above all never use the whip. It is only by the greatest means that the best can be brought out of the highly strung child, but when the proper course is taken such children are wonderfully responsive.

Many Teachers Will Attend Association.

Officers of the Kentucky Educational Association report that the teachers of the State have been roused as never before over the annual session of the Association, which is to be held this year in Louisville. The date is close at hand, June 25, 26 and 27, and finishing touches are now being put to the elaborate program. Exceptionally low railroad rates have been made from every point in the State on account of the convention, and an attendance of not less than 3,000 teachers is anticipated. A special invitation has been given to the trustees and members of boards of education to attend and aid the educators in efforts to improve Kentucky's school system. Numerous speakers of national prominence are on the program. One of the pleasing features will be an exhibit from rural and city schools. This will cover everything from examples of the handiwork of the manual training students to exhibits from the boys' corn clubs. All sessions will be held in the magnificent new First Christian Church, a spacious room of the edifice having been set aside exclusively for the school exhibits.

Mr. Kenney Nichols, of Paris, one of the promoters in the new industry, was elected as manager for the ensuing year.

Committees Will Meet Today.

Rufus Vansant chairman of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, has issued a call for a meeting of the two committees to be held in Frankfort today at the Capital Hotel. The committees will organize and elect a secretary. Robert G. Phillips, Assistant State Treasurer, is regarded as certain to be elected secretary. The meeting will be called to order at noon and will transact only routine business at this, the first meeting since the election of the members.

Site for Warehouse Selected.

The Bourbon Loose Leaf Tobacco Warehouse Co. has purchased the old Bacon property in Barnes Addition, where it will locate its warehouses for the handling of the loose leaf tobacco during the coming sales season.

The property, which belonged to Mrs. C. J. Barnes, of Lewisburg, W. Va., was purchased at a cost of $6,000. The amount of ground included in the transfer is about three acres and gives the company ample room for the accommodation of warehouses, stable room for teams and wagons, beside plenty of yardage.

The tract is an ideal location for the warehouse, being adjacent to the Paris-Lexington interurban lines, a short distance from the Frankfort & Cincinnati railway and for more than five hundred feet runs along the L. & N. railroad on the East side, which will afford an opportunity of securing ample shipping facilities at a small expense to the railroad in installing spurs to run into the warehouses. The ground faces on three streets, Barnes Avenue, Spears and an unnamed street, which will afford an inlet for tobacco wagons.

While definite plans have not been adopted the officers of the company will likely build a frame structure on the purchase, and it is thought the warehouse will be built of sufficient size to meet the future demands, and accommodate the prospective growth of the business of the company.

Are YOU FEEDING $20 to $25 Hay?

Are you losing a large percentage of your CORN PLANT, that would beat any priced Hay, if placed in a SILO?

A prominent feeder, in buying his fourth Silo, says: "Owing to the short hay crop, and the results we secure in Silage, we need another one." And oftentimes the hot weather that burns out pasturage or shortens the hay crop will make a corn crop.

Early Buyers secure advantages in material, price and other ways—the Silo question should be settled before corn planting. 100 ton Silo pastures 25 head of cattle 6 winter months, the cost being about one quarter a rectangular barn.

Edward Rice Dies Suddenly.

Mr. Edward Rice, a prominent farmer of the North Middletown precinct, died suddenly yesterday about noon, while en route from a field where grass seed stripping was in progress, to his home, from an attack of apoplexy.

The death of Mr. Rice came as a distinct shock to his relatives and friends, as he seemed to be enjoying the best of health, and only a few minutes before he died was in the high spirits.

Mr. Rice was in a field a short distance from his home, which is on the outskirts of North Middletown, where a number of grass seed strippers were in operation. During the morning he was apparently in his usual good health, and had made several trips from the field to the barn, where the grass seed was being stored.

Those who last saw him alive state that at noon he had just returned to the field from the barn, and said he would return immediately after dinner. Mr. Rice was riding in his buggy and left the field, going in the direction of his home.

Without realizing that anything of a serious nature had befallen Mr. Rice, the workmen in a field close by continued with their labors, as the horse drawing the buggy passed into the barn lot, with Mr. Rice seated in the vehicle. Not until the horse attempted to draw the vehicle into the buggy apartment through the small doorway, did they realize that something serious had happened, and upon investigation Mr. Rice was found seated in the vehicle, but life was extinct.

As the distance from the field to the house was very short, and the time consumed in making the last trip, it was evident that he had been dead but a short time, and perhaps was seized with the fatal attack midway between the house and the field.

About two years ago, while engaged in some work upon his farm, Mr. Rice suffered a slight stroke of paralysis, from the effects of which he was confined to his home for some time, but during the past several months he had been enjoying exceedingly good health, and last Tuesday made a trip to Paris, where he remained all during the day, and was said by those who saw him, to be in a happy mood.

Mr. Rice, who was 67 years old, was an ex-Confederate soldier, and when in Paris last week contributed to a fund being raised by the Daughters of the Confederacy to purchase flowers with which to decorate the graves of the Confederate dead in the Paris cemetery.

He enlisted in the army of the South in 1862 at the age of 17, under Gen. Kirby Smith, and was a member of Company C, Third Kentucky Battalion, the regiment commanded by Col. E. F. Clay, of Bourbon county. With his regiment, which was under command of Gen. John H. Morgan, the intrepid cavalry leader, he served with considerable distinction, and while one of the youngest, was considered one of the bravest soldiers in the command. He took part in all the principal battles fought by Gen. Morgan, but escaped capture with the command on the famous Ohio raid, by being transferred to another division.

When Gen. Morgan, with other officers, escaped from the State prison at Columbus, Ohio, Mr. Rice, with a few members of his regiment, joined him to continue the struggle, but only a short time afterward the gallant leader met his death.

Mr. Rice continued in his struggle for the South until the surrender of Gen. Lee and he laid down his arms and returned home. Although a young man when the war closed he became actively engaged in the pursuit of agriculture, and amassed a considerable fortune. At the time of his death he was considered the largest landowner in the North Middletown precinct.

Mr. Rice was born and reared only a few miles from the place where he died. He was married three times. His first and second wives were the Misses See, of Little Rock, and his third wife, who survives, was Miss Mollie Bryan, sister of Messrs. W. F. and J. T. Bryan, of Little Rock. Mr. Rice was a prominent member of the Masonic lodge, and an officer in the North Middletown church. The funeral will be held from his late residence, Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, with services by Elders J. W. Ligon and L. H. Reynolds. Burial in the North Middletown cemetery.

Brenlin Window Shades

—Look much better, last longer!

Brenlin shades are the cheapest you can buy. True, they cost a trifle more than ordinary shades at first, but they last years longer. For Brenlin is made of closely woven cloth without the "filling" that makes other shades crack, wrinkle, fade and show unsightly "pin holes." Brenlin Shades always hang straight and smooth, and really shade. It is false economy not to have them.

BRENLIN is made in many artistic tones and in Brenlin Duplex—colored one side, white the other. Come in and let us show you samples and quote prices.

Could Shout For Joy.

"I want to thank you from the bottom of my heart," wrote C. B. Rader, of Lewisburg, W. Va., "for the wonderful double benefit I got from Electric Bitters, in curing me of both a severe case of stomach trouble and of rheumatism, from which I had been an almost helpless sufferer for ten years. It spared my case as though just made for me." For dyspepsia, indigestion, jaundice, and to rid the system of kidney poisons that cause rheumatism Electric Bitters have no equal. Try them. Every bottle is guaranteed to satisfy. Only 50 cents at Oberdorfer's.

Prophylactic.

Knicker—"What flowers will you raise?" Sububs—"Something that is deadly to chickens."

Famous Stage Beauties

look with horror on skin eruptions, blotches, sores or pimples. They don't have them, nor will any one who uses Bucklin's Arnica Salve. It glorifies the face, eczema or salt rheum vanish before it. It cures sore lips, chapped hands; heals burns, cuts and bruises. Unequaled for piles. Only 25 c. at Oberdorfer's.

Matter of Possession.

Anything which you have which you can't get along without—has you.

Foils a Foul Plot.

When a shameful plot exists between liver and bowels to cause distress by refusing to act, take Dr. King's New Life Pills, and end such abuse of your system. They gently compel right action of stomach, liver and bowels, and restore your health and all good feelings. 25 cents at Oberdorfer's.

We Have Seen Him Many Times.

There is a good bit of human nature in the dog that barks after the other dog has gone.—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Each age of our lives has its joys. Old people should be happy, and they will be if Chamberlain's Tablets are taken to strengthen the digestion and keep the bowels regular. These tablets are mild and gentle in their action and especially suitable for people of middle age and older. For sale by all dealers.

Regulation Marching Step.

The regulation step of the British army is 120 to the minute.

There is no real need of anyone being troubled with constipation. Chamberlain's Tablets will cause an agreeable movement of the bowels without any unpleasant effect. Give them a trial. For sale by all dealers.

For Bitter Medicine.

A thing worth knowing when one has to take bitter medicine is this: A small pinch of salt will remove all taste of bitterness from the mouth.

When your child has whooping cough be careful to keep the cough loose and expectation easy by giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as may be required. This remedy will also liquify the tough mucus and make it easier to expectorate. It has been used successfully in many epidemics and is safe and sure. For sale by all dealers.

Novel and Serviceable.

A steel cane that can be taken apart and rebuilt into a substantial stool in half a minute is a French novelty.

A sprained ankle may as a rule be cured in from three to four days by applying Chamberlain's Liniment and observing the directions with each bottle. For sale by all dealers.

World of Uncertainties.

This is a world of uncertainties. Occasionally a man makes money by raising chickens.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

Alpine Flowers of Mt. Rainier.

Thousands of feet above the sea level, on Mt. Rainier, in the state of Washington, there is a wonderful natural garden of wild flowers. Some of them grow at the very brink of the glaciers, and others even push their way up through melting snow fields in late spring. These little known species would greatly enrich our alpine gardens if we could find out how to transplant and acclimatize them, and undoubtedly some day we shall learn.—Country Life in America.

Drives Off a Terror.

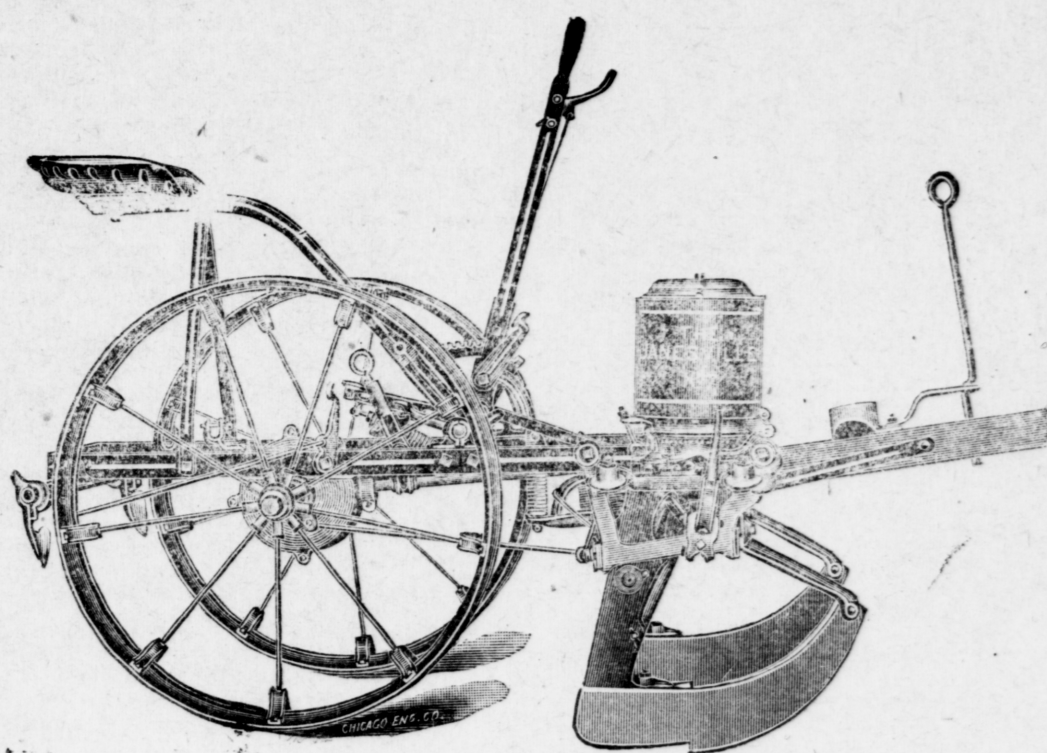

The chief executioner of death in the winter and spring months is pneumonia. Its advance agents are colds and grip. In any attack by one of these maladies no time should be lost in taking the best medicine obtainable to drive it off. Countless thousands have found this to be Dr. King's New Discovery. "My husband believes that it has kept him from having pneumonia three or four times," writes Mrs. George W. Place, Rawsonville, Vt., "and for coughs, colds and croup we have never found its equal." Guaranteed for all bronchial affections. Price 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Oberdorfer's.

Witty to the Last.

The poet Pope was on his deathbed, a friend by his side. The doctor, a confirmed optimist, came in, examined the patient and said he was getting along finely. His pulse was better, the fever reduced, etc. "Here I lie," said Pope to his friend, "dying of a hundred favorable symptoms."

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Blood Was Wrong

All women, who suffer from the aches and pains, due to female ailments, are urged to try Cardui, the reliable, scientific, tonic remedy, for women. Cardui acts promptly, yet gently, and without bad effects, on the womanly system, relieving pain, building up strength, regulating the system, and toning up the nerves. During the past half century, thousands of ladies have written to tell of the quick curative results they obtained, from the use of this well-known medicine.

TAKE
Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Jane Calahan suffered from womanly trouble for nearly ten years. In a letter from Whiteville, N. C., she says: "I was not able to do my own housework. My stomach was weak, and my blood was wrong. I had backache, and was very weak. I tried several doctors, but they did me no good. I used Cardui for 3 or 4 months, and now I am in the best health I have ever been. I can never praise Cardui enough." It is the best tonic, for women.

Whether seriously sick, or simply weak, try Cardui.

QUESTION CLEARED UP

Paris Readers Can No Longer Doubt the Evidence.

Again and again we have read of strangers in distant towns who have been cured by this or that medicine. But Paris' pertinent question has always been "Has anyone here in Paris been cured?" The word of a stranger living a hundred miles away may be true, but it cannot have the same weight with us as the word of our own citizens, whom we know and respect, and whose evidence we can so easily prove.

Mrs. Newman, Pleasant street, Paris, Ky., says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and like them very much. They are safe to use at any time. I had backache and headaches and was very nervous, showing that my kidneys were disordered. When I heard about Doan's Kidney Pills, I used them and before long they made me entirely better."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

State Will Lose Half a Million.

Stockholders in corporations that pay any sort of taxes to the State of Kentucky, whether franchise or ad valorem, are exempted from taxation on their stock in that corporation. This is the effect of the ruling of the Court of Appeals when a petition for rehearing in the case of Hopkins, on relation, against the estate of Dennis Long, was overruled. The case came up from Louisville.

As a result of the action, the state will lose about $500,000 a year in taxes, according to a statement filed by Attorney-General Garnett in connection with the petition for a rehearing. This amount has been collected on stocks in such foreign corporations, and it was stated that $500,000 collected by the State last year might have to be refunded.

Attorney-General Garnett says that all a corporation would have to do would be to deposit $100 or less in a bank in Kentucky and pay taxes upon it and this would serve to exempt all its Kentucky stockholders from paying taxes on their shares of stock.

Sancho Panza's Tribute to Sleep.

Now, blessings light on him that first invented this same sleep! It covers a man all over, thoughts and all, like a cloak; it is meat for the hungry, drink for the thirsty, heat for the cold and cold for the hot. It is the current coin that purchases all the pleasures of the world cheap and the balance that sets the king and the shepherd, the fool and the wise man, even.—Cervantes.

It pays to spray intelligently.

Half starve your hens, if you want no eggs.

Examine the collars of your work horses often.

Few horses can digest perfectly clear timothy hay.

Hang a cabbage where the hens have to exercise to get it.

Warm milk tastes fine to the calf these chilly mornings.

Charcoal in the feed is good for correcting digestive troubles.

Any incubator will do its work, and some brooders will undo it.

The true dairy cow is easily affected by unfavorable conditions.

A good horseman never trots a draft horse even when he has no load.

The demand on the foal's digestive system for nourishment is very great.

Don't let your hens mope. Give them plenty of dry earth, ashes, chaff, etc.

Sunshine is the only disinfectant absolutely free. Then let us use plenty of it.

The real dairy cow turns her food into milk and butter-fat instead of meat.

When you mark the date on an egg, have a good honest man handle the stamp.

Save eggs from hens two or three years old, rather than from pullets, for hatching.

The live, ambitious, energetic poultryman makes it a point to hatch early chicks.

With proper care and protection, clipping is an aid to the health and condition of a horse.

Surely Seemed Like It.
Bobby had endeavored to remove a glass of jam from the closet-shelf. The glass had slipped from his fingers and crashed to the floor, making a sad muss. "Oh, my!" said Bobby, when the speech of which horror had deprived him had returned. "O my! Some one's been monkey'n with that jam!"

Speak Kindly.
If in our speech we would only consider how our words will affect those to whom they are spoken—if we would try to hear them with their ears and consider how they affect hearts, there would not be much passionate or unadvised speech; certainly there would be few spirits wounded or lives embittered by the words of our lips.—W. G. Horder.

One Girl's Luck

"It's funny how we never appreciate our own good luck," said the little stenographer as she pinned tissue paper around her clean, stiff cuffs preparatory to attacking the day's work.

"Well?" The bookkeeper's tone called for particulars. Then he asked: "What special luck has befallen you?"

"Oh, it's just the glory of being able to work," she declared. "Think of earning one's own living! Think of being a business woman, free from all the cares and tribulations of home life—nothing to do but earn a nice little salary that I'm sure of getting each week!"

"I'm much to be envied by my sisters in society, the poor butterflies who are forced to stay up late night after night, while I'm renewing my beauty—such as it is—in sleep. The worn, ennuied, ambitionless girls who drag out a wretched existence trying to have a good time—how I pity them! The—"

"Here, here!" exclaimed the bookkeeper, excitedly. "Stop before you're all run down. You're overworking yourself, child. I'm afraid you're going to be ill."

The little stenographer smiled. "And he thought I meant it!" she exclaimed, under her breath.

"No, but listen to me!" she insisted, aloud. "Think of it! Here I get up at six o'clock mornings, well rested after a good, long sleep, having gone to bed at ten—no social engagements having kept me up—and I dress in five or ten minutes, having things all my own way, being bothered by no maid, and knowing exactly where my things are, having put them in certain places myself the night before. I know exactly what to wear, so I don't have to worry for an hour to decide which dress will be most becoming. I just put on my working dress on work days and my Sunday dress on Sundays, and that's all there is to it. Why, it's beautifully simple. Think of the joy of having no worry on that score; then think of the trials of society belles."

"Then, too, I know exactly where I'm going every day and just what I'm going to do. I don't have to worry and fret over whether I'm insulting or pleasing by accepting or rejecting invitations. I don't have to attend long receptions and meet illustrious folk and feel alarm lest I won't be smart enough to talk with them. I just calmly take a nice, convenient street car to my daily work. After I get there I find my day all arranged for by the firm—no worry whatever on my part. Shouldn't I appreciate all that?"

"I never have to face emergencies, being never called suddenly to some important social affair in New York or San Francisco or to Europe. Think of the poor girls, no older than I, who suddenly face the dire necessity of getting twenty or thirty new frocks and the sundries to attend them! Think of having to let modistes fit you to dress after dress, and having to suffer in silence, so that the fit of each may be perfect! For, being in the public eye, the society girl can't stick a pin in anywhere to hide a wrinkle and then stand so that side of her won't be noticed. She must be absolutely perfect all over."

"Think of her troubles, and then think of me! I can devote any noon hour to shopping merely by going without lunch. I can pick up bargains at any sale. Then in not more than two or three weeks, by working evenings and Saturday afternoons, I can have a new dress made exactly as I want it. I don't have to take just what some dressmaker tells me I must have. I can have a low waisted dress if I want it—and that kind is easier to make when every one is wearing high waists—and on one can stop me."

"Think, too, of the poor society girl's having to take along a chaperon wherever she goes! Why, I can work nights until ten or eleven any time the firm wants me to and then take my five-mile trip home alone, and no one says a word. I have such perfect freedom! I can go to a theater with just another girl, if I want to, and, sitting high up, no opera glasses are turned on me to note with whom I'm sitting. From my comfortable chair I can see the poor rich girl, in tight clothes and a stiff, uncomfortable position—for she can't slouch down and be comfortable—trying to look unconscious of the opera glasses turned on her. I can enjoy the play, but she must be constantly thinking of herself."

"Say, honestly," declared the little stenographer, looking half seriously at the bookkeeper for an instant, "do you know, after all, I don't know but that I'm half right in what I say. I didn't mean it at all when I said it, but I've just about convinced myself that it's a pretty good thing to be me. I don't know that I could ever live up to the requirements of a society bud," she confessed, "and it's sort of comforting to know that I can be natural once in a while and tell my troubles to a friend who likes me, not my money."

Then she turned to her typewriter, humming a little tune.—Chicago Daily News.
